SAMPLING INSTRUCTIONS

Interpretation of test data depends on the sample being taken (sampled) in the recommended manner. These notes will help to ensure that this is done.

- Approximately 50gm of fresh sample is required
- Take samples from sites that are representative of the crop, taking into consideration the tree age, variety, blocks and treatment
- Sample the new root growth from the drip zone (root flush) unless other sample fractions are required for special projects
- Identify the sample bags with a permanent marker
- Samples can be frozen if not being sent immediately
- Check the request form is filled in with all information and then promptly dispatch the sample(s) to the laboratory

TERMS OF TRADE

The following terms and conditions apply for work done by R J Hill Laboratories Limited (henceforth referred to as "Hills"), unless otherwise arranged by the management.

All Customers
