Interpretation of test data depends on the sample being taken (sampled) in the recommended manner. These notes will help to ensure that this is done. More detailed guides for specific crops are available on request. Please advise laboratory if hazardous substances possibly present in/on samples

Solutions including Stock Solutions: for Nutrient Solution analysis

1. Rinse a clean container (250 ml capacity) at least twice with the solution to be submitted.
2. Fill the container to within 2 cm of the top, seal.
3. Clearly label samples with a permanent marker or ballpoint pen.
4. Carefully check you have filled in the request form. Results can be reported in mg/l or mmol/l.
5. Send sample with the Analysis Request form as soon after collection as possible.

Contact the laboratory or visit the Hill Laboratories web site for a copy of the Analysis Request form and other information and sampling materials as required.

Pumice / Sawdust: for nutrient analysis

1. Fill a clean plastic bag with a representative sample of the media.
2. Clearly label samples with a permanent marker or ballpoint pen.
3. Carefully check you have filled in the request form.
4. Send sample with the Analysis Request form as soon after collection as possible.

Contact the laboratory or visit the Hill Laboratories web site for a copy of the Analysis Request form and other information and sampling materials as required.

Plant: for diagnosis of nutrient imbalance

1. Collect the sample from plants that are representative of the crop.
2. Take approximately 100grams (25-30 leaves for larger plants).
3. Take care to avoid contamination of samples, particularly with fertilisers.
4. Identify the sample bags with permanent marker pen.
5. For diagnosis of nutritional disorders, sample plants showing signs of abnormality.
6. Carefully check that you have filled in the request form, then promptly despatch to the laboratory.

Contact the laboratory or visit the Hill Laboratories web site for a copy of the Analysis Request form and other information and sampling materials as required.
